Reframe the Question.

At Pitzer College, students engage in small, seminar-style classes, often team-taught by faculty from different disciplines.

First-Year Seminar

All first-year students take a writing intensive, interdisciplinary seminar during their first semester to fulfill the college's Written Expression educational objective. Students pick a seminar topic of interest from a list of options. Sample topics include:

> Art in an Age of Protest
> Behave: the Biology of Why We Do What We Do
> Representation Matters: Contested Monuments and Public Space
> Histories of Health and the Environment

Self-Designed Majors

Students must work with two faculty advisors who help create and approve a self-designed major. A few recent examples include:

> Food Science
> Public Health
> Urban Justice Studies
> Foreign Language Education
> Queer Health Justice
> Critical Global Geography

VOICES

MORE ON OUR CORE.

Soren Laskin '25
Major: Organizational Studies
Minor: Sociology

"The core value I love the most is interdisciplinary learning. No subject is completely isolated from others and looking at subjects through the lens of another not only makes my studies more interesting, but can offer better insight and creativity."

Grace Wood-Hull '25
Major: Cognitive Science

"I was intrigued by cognitive science because it is so interdisciplinary; it explores the mind using philosophy, neuroscience, computer science, linguistics and anthropology. I took Intro to Cognitive Science and was immediately intrigued by its comprehensive exploration of cognition and consciousness."

Phil Zuckerman
Professor of Sociology & Secular Studies

"I like that I am at an institution that emphasizes social justice, social responsibility and environmental activism. I am glad and proud to be at an institution that wants to 'fight the good fight.' And I like that my classes are small and I get to really know many of my students. We also have awesome food!"

Chi Adi '26
Major: Organizational Studies

"I'd say that student engagement has become particularly important to me during my time at Pitzer. Especially at a smaller school, I think it's very true to say that the students make the campus, or at the very least they have the collective power and potential to change the campus in significant ways."

> The Honnold Mudd Library. One of the largest undergraduate research libraries in the country.

> Department of Natural Sciences. Pitzer, Claremont McKenna and Scripps colleges share this department, offering 50+ faculty members and well-equipped labs.

Social Benefits of the 5Cs

> Seven Dining Halls. Visit any of the 5Cs 17 eateries, seven of which are dining halls, for delicious and diverse meal options.

> Social Events. Enjoy five times the fun at the International Festival, Dance Nights with DJs, live bands at Art After Hours, and so much more!

> Student Identity Centers. Student associations support the 5Cs' diverse student groups with affinity centers for Black, Latinx and Asian Pacific American students, to name a few, as well as the Student Disability Resource Center, Queer Resource Center, chaplains office and more.

> Health Services. Medical professionals are available for students to address both their physical and mental health needs.

Immerse Yourself Abroad.

Pitzer students participate in nationally recognized cultural immersion programs during the semester or summer. These programs encourage our students to explore issues that matter to the world from different cultural perspectives.

Pitzer's Direct-Run Programs

> Brazil. Located in Salvador de Bahia, a center of Afro-Brazilian culture, students live with local families, intern with a local nonprofit or school, and take intensive Portuguese language courses during this summer program.

> Costa Rica. Experience two family homestays, including one near our Firestone Center for Restoration Ecology on the Pacific Coast. We also offer a six-week summer health program.

> Ecuador. Based in Quito, high in the Andes, students take a core course, which includes working with a local organization. They also take a study trip to an indigenous mountain community, plus an excursion to the Amazon Basin. Homestays take place in both Quito and San Clemente.

> Italy. Based in Parma, students focus on intensive Italian language study aided by semester-long homestays, plus a field-based art history course and a community-based service-learning experience.

> Nepal. Students participate in homestays with a family near Kathmandu while intensively studying Nepali and taking part in field assignments and study trips to villages, national parks and a Tibetan refugee camp.

> South Africa and Botswana. Students learn about the ways governments, NGOs and local communities in the region choose to approach issues that are common across borders, such as the colonial legacy, development, race, power, human rights and reconciliation, big game conservation, ecology and tourism, health care, education, and poverty alleviation.

> Vietnam. Students begin studying Vietnamese intensively at Pitzer in the spring, which continues in Vietnam at Hue University during the early summer. The six-week program also includes an internship and a homestay. A study trip to Hanoi and Halong Bay provide a comparative perspective in former "North Vietnam."

Bridge the Planet.

Pitzer students win a wide selection of prestigious fellowships and scholarships to pursue academic inquiry both in the U.S. and overseas.

Fulbright Scholar Program

Pitzer is a national leader in the number of Fulbrights received. A sampling of our recent Fulbright Scholars:

> India: Neha Basu '24
Activity: Conducting research about street vendors in India.

> Spain: Sahar Dabrian '24
Activity: Teaching English in the La Rioja region.

> Turkey: Skylar Masuda '24
Activity: Studying repatriated artifacts in Turkey.

Other Fellowships and Scholarships: A Sampling

> Napier Awards for Creative Leadership. $20,000 awards to graduating seniors in the areas of social justice, peace and environmental sustainability.

> Mellon Mays Undergraduate Fellowship. Encourages fellows to enter PhD programs that prepare them for professional careers.

> Thomas J. Watson Fellowship. Gives graduating seniors a $30,000 grant to conduct original research outside the United States for one year.

Fulbright Scholar
+ Napier Award
Major: Biology
Currently: doing research in Cambodia

"Measles may seem like ancient news for those of us in the US, but it kills more than 100,000 children every year in low- and middle-income countries, despite being completely preventable using an exceptionally safe and effective measles vaccine. I'm headed to Cambodia to interview itinerant 'boat-dwelling' citizens to understand how and why children are missing the vaccination and figure out a way to ensure they are protected in the future."

WHAT'S A FULBRIGHT? The nation's premier international educational exchange program. Only 1,600 awarded annually.

Sergio Quechol '23
Fulbright Scholar
Majors: Latin American Studies and Gender & Women Studies
Currently: doing research on the art of racialized travesti and trans femmes in Brazil

"The way we often come to know gender non-conforming identities is through stories about violence. There is a dearth of scholarship on how joy and care are central and complementary to these identities."

Ground Your Idealism.

All Pitzer students take a Social Justice Theory and Social Responsibility Praxis paired course sequence to gain a deeper understanding of community engagement.

Samples of Paired Course Sequences

> Agricultural Economics.

In Class: Explore the global supply and demand side of markets for agricultural goods.

In the Field: Work with Huerta del Valle on economic analysis for new projects, like planting avocado trees.

> Latinx Community Health.

In Class: Examine issues affecting Chicanx Latinx health in the U.S.

In the Field: Intern at least four hours a week at Bienestar Human Services in Pomona and East Los Angeles.

PITZER HAS A COLLABORATIVE GOVERNANCE SYSTEM THAT CHALLENGES STUDENTS TO GROW AS LEADERS.

Fifty-four student representatives serve as full voting members on college committees, including Academic Planning; Appointments; Promotion & Tenure; Curriculum; Diversity; and Student Affairs. Some recent Student Senate accomplishments include:

> Advocating for gender-neutral restrooms and residence halls
> Banning sale of plastic water bottles on campus
> Recognizing Indigenous Peoples' Day
> Assisting in the selection of Dr. Melvin Oliver, Pitzer's first African-American president.
> Adding a voting position for formerly incarcerated students to the Senate
> Adding a VP of Diversity to Executive Board.
> Advocating for period products in all bathrooms including mens
> Created a fund to maintain affinity spaces

Food

Much of the food is organic, and our dining hall was one of the first in the country to go trayless, in order to reduce water waste. Vegan, vegetarian and gluten-free options are available daily. Other on-campus eateries and kitchens include:

> Shakedown Café. Eatery with organic, locally grown food.

> Grove House. A favorite student spot to study and grab sandwiches and cookies.

> Pit-Stop Café. Serves espresso drinks, gourmet sandwiches, wraps, salads and pastries.

> Demonstration Kitchen. Designed and used by students for cooking projects and events.

Residence Halls

Six comfortable, mixed-use, LEED certified residence halls offer apartment-style suites, plus doubles and singles. Other sustainable features include solar panels, a green roof, living wall, a gray water system and water-efficient fixtures.

Green Bike Program (GBP)

Founded and run by students, the GBP provides free loaner bikes for the semester, in exchange for four hours of volunteering at the bike shop. It also repairs bikes for the cost of parts, and organizes cycling events like the Campus to Coast ride. At the end of each semester, abandoned bikes are collected and given to the GBP where they are refurbished and raffled off the following semester at no charge.

Free Wall and Murals

More than 100 campus murals provide commentary on everything from equality for women to meditation. Students can submit proposals to the Campus Aesthetics Committee to add their public art piece to the College's collection. All students are invited to write, paint and express themselves on our iconic and ever-changing Free Wall in the center of campus. ●

Participate and Play.

Pitzer students lead balanced lives, blending academic studies with almost limitless opportunities for fun and active pursuits.

Music Festivals and Art Venues

Pitzer is known for live music festivals and art venues:

> Rockabilly Festival. Sponsored by the Latinx Student Union, this annual festival celebrates SoCal Latinx art, music and car culture.

> Kohoutek. An annual two-day music and arts festival, with acts like La Misa Negra, LeiKeli 47 and Duckworth.

> Grove House. Hosts weekly events, such as open mics, poetry and fiction readings, "Groove at the Grove" music performances and art openings.

> The Mounds and The Apron. Spontaneous music, dance and art events spring up here day and night.

> The Shakedown Sounds. A bi-weekly open mic at the Shakedown Café.

Campus Life

The Student Engagement Team programs on-and off campus events and trips every week. A few favorites include:

> On-Campus. Comedy Night, De-stress Fest and Snackie Snack, served at 10 p.m. every Tuesday.

> Off-Campus. Los Angeles Zoo, the Broad Museum, Sky Zone, Skate Express, abundant hiking opportunities, and world-famous beaches.

Elizabeth Affuso
Professor of Media Studies

"Students practice positive disruption. The free wall on Mead Hall, which evolves and changes in relation to the campus community climate, is the most evocative example of this spirit."

Maisie Adaams '25
Major: Cognitive Science
Minor: Science, Technology and Society

"My favorite part of Pitzer is the close relationships between students and professors. Attending Pitzer makes me feel supported in ways I never expected or ever experienced in the past. Professors here are not only professors to me, but mentors, guides and role models helping me discover my purpose."

Diego Villegas Ayala '24
Majors: Organizational Studies and Chicanx / Latinx Studies

"Affinity groups have provided me with the resources to become an active member within the Pitzer community and beyond. Through the Latinx Student Union, I've hosted events and worked on projects that celebrate my cultural identity while simultaneously leaving my mark on campus. We've become one big everchanging family!"

Dey Wallace-McKinstry '25
Major: Psychology and Political Studies

"Favorite thing about Pitzer — the physical campus, specifically the murals! I always tell my tours that the murals you see around campus will give you a greater sense of the true Pitzer student and community member better than maybe my words can. The murals tell the story of who we are, what we stand for, and what matters to us!"

Take It Outside.

Downtown Claremont, affectionately known as "the Village," is only a 15-minute walk from campus, and the big city lights of Los Angeles are just 35 miles away, giving Pitzer students ample opportunity to enjoy the great outdoors—SoCal style!

Charming Claremont

Known as the city of trees and Ph.D.s, Claremont is the quintessential college town. The quaint, walkable downtown Village offers more than 100 coffee shops, restaurants, boutiques, bakeries and galleries—and the popular Sunday morning Farmers and Artisans Market.

Lively Los Angeles

Hop on the Metrolink train at the historic Claremont Depot—in under an hour, you'll reach beautiful LA Union Station, the gateway to practically everywhere in the city.
